The Boy with the Broken Hands – Part 11

The interviews over Jamie waited for Al to bring lunch and as he sat there he thought that his dad had never even bothered to visit him in hospital or in his room since he had his accident and he knew that his dad had been home. He was very sad and wondered what Al's mum and dad were like, as Al seemed to be so happy with his parents so he decided to ask Al to invite them over when his mum and dad had left for their trip. He wanted to meet them so much because if they were as nice as Al was, he knew he would love them.

There was a knock on Jamie's suite door and he called for whoever it was to come in. It was Cameron who looked very shy and sheepish as he opened the door and stood waiting in the entrance. Jamie called him in and asked him to sit down. The boy sat opposite Jamie and apologised for interrupting him. Jamie told him not to worry he was waiting for his lunch.

Cameron was wearing some tight knee-length shorts, which clearly showed a considerable package at his crotch, which set Jamie wondering what Cameron's cock looked like. He was wearing a baggy blue T-shirt, white sports socks and battered trainers that had seen better days. Jamie appraised the boy. He was about Jamie's height and both boys had a similar slim build, the main difference was that Cameron had closely cropped black hair and deep brown eyes compared with Jamie's blond hair and blue eyes. Jamie liked what he saw and decided that Cameron was OK and not the sullen creature that he thought he was at lunch the previous day.

Cameron asked Jamie how he was and if he was in a lot of pain to which Jamie replied that he was in pain but was doing OK. He thanked the boy for asking and for taking the time out to visit him. Cameron explained that he had called the day before but Jamie was asleep and Jamie confirmed that Al had told him about that. Jamie noticed the boy blush red when he mentioned Al and he made a mental note to ask Al about that when he saw him next.

Cameron started to speak his face still flushed and he asked Jamie if he really wanted someone to help him cum from time to time. Jamie smiled and also blushed but said he did, holding up his bandaged wrists and hands as evidence of his incapacity. Jamie waited to see what the boy would say next and still blushing fiercely he offered to help Jamie any time he wanted and just to call him. Jamie thanked the boy and said he would call him very soon but asked if he wanted to see his cock. Cameron was a bit taken aback but very curious so he smiled and said OK and added if Jamie showed him his he would do the same.

Jamie suggested Cameron move over to where he was sitting and the boy stood up and was beside Jamie in a flash. Jamie gestured to the boy with his bandaged hands and Cameron caught on fast and moved in to slide Jamie's shirt up and baggy shorts down revealing his soft cock and flat belly. Cameron was impressed as Jamie's cock came into view. He was pleased that Jamie was uncut like him he loved foreskin and was glad that his new friend still had his intact. He asked Jamie if he could touch it and Jamie said to go ahead so the boy gingerly held Jamie's hardening cock in his smooth hand. Jamie moaned at the soft touch of another hand on his boy cock and closed his eyes laying back in the comfortable sofa unconsciously opening his legs as wide as he could. Cameron wanked the hardening cock slowly moving the loose skin up and down over the full length of Jamie's cock. He felt his own cock harden in his tight shorts as Jamie opened his eyes and smiled at his new buddy. Jamie then asked Cameron to show him his cock. Reluctantly Cameron removed his wanking hand from the boy's cock and slid his tight shorts down his long smooth hairless legs allowing his hard cock to spring free. Jamie gasped, as the thick cock appeared, foreskin fully retracted and Wow! Was it thick, it was like the pool vacuum hose around. It was slightly shorter than Jamie's cock but what it lacked in length was well compensated for in thickness. Jamie had never seen a cock like it and he loved it. Cameron caught him staring and suddenly was afraid that Jamie didn't like his cock so he stepped back hesitating, and Jamie asked him what he was doing. Cameron went to pull up his shorts and Jamie asked him to stop and tell him what was wrong. Cameron explained that he assumed Jamie didn't like his odd thick cock and maybe it was best that he leave. Jamie asked him what he thought was odd about his cock as he loved it and was amazed at its thickness, he explained that he had never seen one as thick and he thought it was awesome. He further explained that if he had the use of his hands he would be wanking it right now!!

The boy grinned and slipped his shorts back down again releasing his thick cock and moved towards Jamie's face, touching his cheek with the large wet cock head. Jamie felt the tip of Cameron's hard cock brushing his face and turned his head to lick the hard boycock, causing the boy to moan in pleasure. Cameron took Jamie's cock in hand once more and started to wank it, as Jamie sucked his cock into his warm wet mouth taking the head in and not much more because it was so very thick. He started to seriously suck the glans. Cameron's legs buckled as he stood beside Jamie's seat his cockhead in his friend's mouth as the feelings of absolute pleasure overcame the boy. He had never experienced anything like this in his life. All he could do was make an effort to remain standing while Jamie sucked him like a pro and he held Jamie's hard cock in his hand wanking it for all he was worth. There were two simultaneous groans of pleasure as Cameron started to cum in Jamie's mouth as Jamie started to shoot his load high in the air landing on his chest and abdomen the remains dribbling into his pubes. This time Cameron did almost fall over and had to grab onto the back of Jamie's chair to stay upright. Jamie refused to release the boy's cock head from his mouth and Cameron's hand had a thick covering of Jamie's spunk. All was quiet and Cameron slowly released the softening cock and lifted his cum covered hand to his lips where he tasted Jamie's fresh spunk, licking it and savouring it like a fine wine. Jamie had swallowed most of Cameron's cum but there was still some on his tongue so he released the boy's cock and asked Cameron to kiss him and when their mouths met there was a blending of boy cum each tasting the other's spunk and kissing passionately, tongues fencing with each other teeth clashing. Two spent boys.

Jamie thanked Cameron for calling in and the boy responded by saying it was his pleasure and he wanted to call back again very soon. Jamie smiled and said that was for sure. He asked Cameron to clean him up and pull his shorts up again so the boy cleaned his friend's cock and dressed Jamie again after pulling his own shorts up.

Just at that the door opened and Al arrived with a trolley loaded with food and Cameron immediately stood up to leave. Jamie told him to stay put and to join them for lunch and the boy agreed.

It was a feast of cold meats, salads and warm bread with wine and beer. Jamie had always been included when his parents had wine for a meal and he enjoyed it but remembered how it had affected him when he first drank it. It made him quite drunk, fast but as he got used to it he was fine. Al passed a glass of wine to Cameron and told him to help himself to food while he collected a selection for Jamie and started to feed him with it. There was silence in the suite as everyone enjoyed the feast and drinks and Cameron had a second glass of wine, as did Jamie and Al.

After lunch was over Cameron stood to leave promising Jamie that he would be back very soon and Jamie thanked him and said he was looking forward to it. Al picked up on Jamie's changed opinion of Cameron and the boy laughed and said he was entitled to change his mind. The nurse looked at him and smiled, knowing something had happened while he was fetching the lunch but didn't pursue it.

They sat down together to discuss the choice of carer and they both agreed that Grant was definitely not on the list as he had been embarrassed about helping Jamie out and Jamie also felt that Adrian was not suitable. Al asked why and Jamie said he was unsure but didn't really feel comfortable with him. Al said OK. That left Smithy and Kieran so what did Jamie want to do. Jamie considered this for a while and said that what he really wanted was Al as his carer and no one else. Al was taken completely by surprise at this admission and held the boy close whispering his thanks in his ear as they embraced.

Al explained that he was employed full time by the hospital and they had only allowed him home with Jamie as a stop-gap until a full time carer was found. Al wanted to remain at the hospital as he enjoyed the work there but he agreed that he would be very happy to work with Jamie as his carer. The work would however only be temporary and if he resigned now he would not get back into the job at the hospital when Jamie didn't need him down the line. He then sat beside the boy and put his arm around his shoulders hugging him close. He explained that he supported his mum and dad because neither could work any more and his money was critical to them so he couldn't risk that. Al was almost in tears as he explained this to the boy and Jamie did start to cry as he buried his head in Al's shoulder fully understanding what the man was saying.

They sat like that for ages and eventually Al pulled away and asked Jamie who he wanted to be his carer between Smithy and Kieran. Jamie sat up in the chair and looking at the floor said in a very quiet voice that he would select Kieran if he couldn't have Al. The man hugged the boy again and then stood up saying he would call all four candidates and tell them the outcome. Jamie nodded and asked for some pain relief and said he wanted to sleep so Al administered his injection and tablets then tucked the boy into bed before going off to make the calls.

Just before Jamie slept his mother appeared and asked him if he had made a decision and as mothers do she noticed her son had been crying so she asked him what was wrong. He blurted out that he really wanted to have Al as his carer and explained what Al had said about his job and the hospital. Sylvia looked thoughtful and told the boy not to worry everything would work out and she kissed his forehead, tucked him in and dried his cheeks with a perfumed handkerchief.

Sylvia knocked on Al's bedroom door and he shouted to her to come in. He was seated at the writing desk and had the telephone in his hand. He placed it down and stood to welcome Sylvia asking her to sit down. She sat on the sofa opposite Al and motioned him to sit as well. She told him what Jamie had said and she fully understood. She asked him if he had contacted everyone yet and Al said he had told the three that had not been successful and had been just about to call Kieran when she had knocked. Sylvia asked him to wait an hour before making the call and she would come back to him before then. He was a bit confused but no one refused or questioned Sylvia so he agreed and said that was fine. She left and promised to return shortly.

As soon as she was downstairs she put in a call to the Director of the hospital who was a personal friend of the family and a golf buddy to her husband. Marcus McKay took the call and asked Sylvia how Jamie was so she wasted no time in asking a favour which he said he would readily agree to. She thanked him and after further pleasantries she hung up.

She went back up to Al's room and again knocked on the door. He answered and ushered her in. She sat again and then explained that she had spoken to the hospital and they had agreed to release him for however long it took Jamie to be self-sufficient again and then reemploy him in his current job immediately he was ready to return. In the meantime she would prepare a contract for Al with a guaranteed salary and benefits including a car and she was waiting for a confirmation letter from the hospital to give Al reassurance that their promise would be honoured. Sylvia asked Al if that would be acceptable and the man smiled broadly and said it was more than acceptable it was amazing. He moved towards her and shook her hand then kissed her on the cheeks. She rose to leave delighted he was in agreement and feeling that she had achieved something that her son would thank her for. She turned to face Al at the door and asked him to let Jamie know what was happening and also to call the final candidate and let him know he was no longer required. Al could not stop smiling so he went back into the room and punched the air as an expression of his delight.

Al made the call to Kieran and the boy was disappointed but wished Jamie and Al best of luck and laughing told him that if Jamie ever needed someone different to 'assist' him to make sure they called him. Al agreed, thanked Kieran for being so understanding and hung up. He went to Jamie's room but the boy was sound asleep so he left him and was really looking forward to giving him the news.

A few hours later just before dinner Sylvia returned for a third time to Al's room and once she was comfortably seated she handed Al the confirmation letter from the hospital that they would retain his job for as long as it took with Jamie. She then passed the nurse a second sheaf of papers. She explained that this was his contract with the family and it detailed the job description and benefits package that was on offer. This included a salary double what Al was currently earning plus a car, all meals and the use of the house as his own during Sylvia and her husband's absence. Al was astounded as he read through the lengthy document trying hard to take it all in. She waited patiently for any questions and there was a loud gasp from Al as he reached the last page of the contract. She smiled and asked if there was a problem.

Al read and re-read the final paragraph of the legal document, which stated that in the event that anything should ever happen to his mother and father that he, Al would be made his legal guardian. It also stated that there was a sizeable trust fund for the boy available to him when he was 21 and until that point if they should die Al would administer the fund and look after Jamie.

Al was speechless as he tried to absorb the information in the last legally annotated Paragraph 2 Item 8. He looked at the woman and asked why she was doing this. She smiled sweetly and said that quite simply she had never met anyone who liked Jamie as much as Al did and to whom the boy had taken so strongly. She had checked Al out, knew he lived with and financially supported his own mum and dad and his record at the hospital was exemplary. In short, she was mightily impressed with Al and she was convinced that he would take very good care of her son at least for the month she was away and in the event that anything serious happened until he was mature enough to look after himself. Jamie would never have to worry about money but she wanted him to do as well as he could at College and University in whatever he decided was right for him.

Al asked Sylvia for a few hours to consider the contract and to discuss it with Jamie, as he didn't want to do anything that the boy was unhappy about. She agreed and told Al to come down to the drawing room when he was ready adding that as she and her husband were leaving the next morning on the trip that he shouldn't take too long. Al nodded agreement staggered at what had happened as she left.

Al sat stunned at the developments and his thoughts were interrupted by Jamie's voice on the speaker asking for assistance to go to the toilet. The boy was awake so now Al had to break the news to him, all of it and he wondered how Jamie would take it.
